

Turning Goals into Habits

STEP #1: Start with strengths.

What are your existing skills, successes, strengths, superpowers?

Where/how are you already successful? How can you do more of that?

In what situations do you tend to be most successful?

Where do you feel strongest? How can we build on those strengths?

STEP #2: Choose ONE general goal to start with.

What is your general goal?

Is the goal (check all that apply):

- ☐ Behavior-based (focuses on executing behaviors/activities)
- ☐ Mastery-focused (emphasizes skill learning)

STEP #3: Break the goal down.

Break the large goal down into 3-5 smaller pieces. Every piece should relate to the larger goal and should be clear/concrete, specific, and do-able.

Small piece 1:

How is this related to the larger goal?

Is it clear/concrete, specific, and do-able?

Small piece 2:

How is this related to the larger goal?

Is it clear/concrete, specific, and do-able?

Small piece 3:

How is this related to the larger goal?

Is it clear/concrete, specific, and do-able?

Small piece 4:

How is this related to the larger goal?

Is it clear/concrete, specific, and do-able?

Small piece 5:

How is this related to the larger goal?

Is it clear/concrete, specific, and do-able?

STEP #4: Choose ONE small piece.

This will be your new daily habit. Focus ONLY on this small piece. Your objective is to do this consistently (90-100%), every single day, until it is part of your normal rhythm and routine.

SWIMSTRONG
DRYLAND

The one small piece you'd like to focus on is:

STEP #5: Confirm the fit.

I am (check all that apply):

- ☐ READY to do the chosen task
- ☐ WILLING to do the chosen task
- ☐ ABLE to do the chosen task

All 3 must be checked in order to ensure success.

STEP #6: Set up an accountability system.

Some ideas to get you started, depending on your specific goal:

- Use the SSDL habit tracker
- Keep a journal/record
- Mark a "check" or an "X" on a calendar
- Check-in with coaches/parents
- Ask a teammate to be your accountability partner
- Take measurements regularly
- Reward yourself when you meet a goal
- Get creative!

My chosen accountability system(s):

SWIMSTRONG
DRYLAND

STEP #7: Use outcome-based decision making to assess how well the habit worked and plan next steps.

Once you can consistently do the small piece every day, you are ready to keep building toward your larger goal.

How did the habit work for you?

Based on your answer to the question above, what is your next step/small piece to focus on?

Disclaimer:

All nutrition information presented and written within SwimStrongDryland.com are intended for informational purposes only. You should not rely on this information as a substitute for, nor does it replace, professional medical advice, diagnosis, or treatment. If you have any concerns or questions about your health, you should always consult with a physician or other health-care professional. Each individual's dietary needs and restrictions are unique to the individual. The reader assumes full responsibility for consulting a qualified health professional regarding health conditions or concerns, and before starting a new diet or supplement.

SWIMSTRONG
DRYLAND