

Vegan Stir-Fry

Ingredients

- 1 block organic tempeh
- ½ cup shredded carrots
- ½ bell pepper, diced
- ½ cup broccoli, chopped
- 1 cup red cabbage, chopped
- 1 cup bok choy, chopped
- 1 tablespoon avocado oil
- 1 tablespoon toasted sesame oil
- 2 tablespoons tamari
- 3 cloves minced garlic
- Pinch of salt
- Pinch of red pepper flakes
- 3 cups cooked rice of choice

Directions

Cut the block of tempeh into bite-size pieces. Dice the bell pepper, broccoli, red cabbage, and bok choy. Add a small amount of avocado oil to a large skillet over medium-high heat. Once warm, add in the minced garlic, edamame, tempeh, and all of the vegetables. Stir occasionally, and cook until vegetables have softened and tempeh is lightly browned (about 7-8 minutes). Sprinkle a pinch of salt or more to taste.

While vegetables are cooking, prepare the rice (brown or white). Follow package directions to yield 3 cups of cooked rice and set aside.

Once your vegetables are cooked, remove them from the skillet and place in a separate bowl. Next, add the sesame oil and cooked rice to the skillet over medium-high heat. This helps to crisp up your rice, giving it a toasted or 'fried' flavor.

Add your vegetables back into the skillet with the rice, then add the tamari and red pepper flakes. Feel free to add more of each to your preference.

Stir until well combined and serve immediately.
