

What is Coach Christen talking about in each video?

What You Can Control - It is normal to try and find things you can control if you're nervous before a competition. For example, focusing on what your competitor is doing. But instead of focusing on that you can't control other athletes, think about the fact that they can't control YOU either.